

Auto Tech Best Practices Sharing Webex

April 8, 2020 9:00 am

Attendees: Steve Conway, Jason Tanner, Amy Holloway, Roy Williams, Troy Peco, Toby Heard, Stoney Farmer, Kevin McCurry, Mark Whittaker, James Wilkes, Ben Pendley, Larry Cardell, Clayton Smith, Allen McChargue, Mike Day, Allen Hobbs, Jim McNair, Ross Miller, and Ken Hardy.

Topics:

Welcome and sign in using chat if possible

GVTC On-going Training and Office Hours: Steve stated that the GVTC team had been conducting training sessions almost daily for many weeks now and that he would continue to share the schedules on the list serve. Several folks indicated that they were using BB Collaborate almost daily and that is was going well.

Electude and Cengage links sent out: the group then discussed best practices and e-resources. Many folks were using Cengage learning products. A couple of colleges were using Electude and there was quite a variety of other sources shared from You Tube or even manufacturer's such as Ford. Overall the group felt good doing lecture and basic content on line. The lab hours are an issue except for working students.

Other Best Practices – Ford ACE training is available but need dealer sponsor; garrettmotion.com is a useful source for turbo charger training

Working Students – the group agreed working students could be granted lab credit with manager sign offs. Other students not having this option are likely going to be getting I or Z grades. Dr. Holloway explained that Z grades could be used for students who withdraw or otherwise disappear so they have no harm in hours.